Blogger and Blogspot Users: Removing "Next Blog" Link From Your Blog

If you create a Blog for your students using Blogger or Blogspot, you may want to follow the instructions below.

If a student or parent clicks on "Next Blog" on the Navigation bar, it moves to a random blog which in many cases may be inappropriate material! After doing some research, it is not possible to remove only the "Next Blog" link, the entire Navigation bar must be removed. This means that users will not be able to search the blog, and blog authors will not have the dashboard available.

If you still need assistance, please contact Molly Schroeder or Michael Walker.

Step 1:

Log in to Blogger/Blogspot to access your Dashboard.

Step 2:

On your Dashboard, select Layout. This will take you to the Template tab. Click Edit HTML. Under the Edit Template section you will see your blog's HTML code.

Step 3: Move your cursor to section indicated by the following code:
